

Ambitions

Katatonía

Hear my thin voice
Hear my words fall down
See my ambitions fade out
Had so much better time

At night walking on the tracks
Changed my perspective
Idle hands with wounds and cracks
Stale and infected
We cast a veil
The memories are faint
Still so in love with you

She danced this strife
Kicked the life
I feel this weight upon my heart

Indecision
Sow the seed
Aspirations never within reach
At night there is no other view
Sing a song for the ones who never made it

In the ward under yellow lights
Under linden trees I am transparent
And led to believe that things will change if I go away
Lowering sky under which we go

She danced this strife
And kicked the life
I feel this weight upon my heart

Hear my thin voice
Hear my words fall down
See my ambitions fade out
Had so much better time

Constant noise behind the overcoming
I had no choice but to rearrange
The scars open
I am not allowed to understand
I take it as you are not coming back

Indecision
Sow the seed
Aspirations never within reach
At night there is no other view
Sing a song for the ones who never made it
See my ambitions fade out
Had so much better time