Statues Without Eyes

Kill Hannah

Lost, and winter's on the way And the air is caving in And the streets are crumbling But you are with me

Under the downtown city lights We become statues without eyes Barely audible
We're frozen in time
I have you where I want you

Oh I need to look away When the jets are overhead And the storm is closing in Yeah something is happening

Beneath the modern cold highrise We become statues without eyes Stand at attention They all align
I have you where I want you

Then it all aligns
It all aligns
I have you where I want you
We are statues without eyes
We were statues without eyes
We are statues without eyes
