Stonehenge

King Missile

I want to go to a place where nobody knows who I am And come back to a place where everyone forgot who I was I want to bury myself and rise from the grave and shower and sh ave and start over again I want to be somebody else again So I want to go away and come back and start all over again I want to be somebody else again