

It's Never Gonna Be the Same Again

Kris Kristofferson

All we've ever owed each other for the time we spent together
Was the right to know it's over when it's gone
What it wasn't doesn't matter and it still don't feel no better
Just to know who done who righteously or wrong
Lord I wish that I could say I could see a single way
That we could take it back to where it used to be Before the daylight broke to pieces everything I used to make believe
And it's never gonna be the same again I'm sorry we can't even still be friends
Trusting you has left some wounds that time ain't gonna mend
And it's a never gonna be the same again

It's a shame to know it's over and you're nothing but another
Pretty thing that I don't do before I die
But the saddest part of all is never knowin' if you'll ever even wonder why
And it's never gonna be the same...
Oh you can't never gonna be the same again
