

The Arms

Lapko

I know you're not so far
Like the next inhale - in front of a threatening wave
This is called the arms
It's dedicated to love It's for love and for the peace in a storm

I've seen you many times in my dreams
You spot your enemies in an empty street
This is called the arms and I hope that you can really meet our star tonight
You are to be die
It is right and so is life

Who yearns to have too much and live forever
Then there's no reason to look ahead
One chance to vote and one choice within the limits
There's no time to look behind

This is called The arms
It's dedicated to love
It's for everyone who has the values to fight for and it's for freedom and for liberty and not lastly For your little faint Panda with scars in your ear

I know you're not so far
Like the next inhale - in front of a threatening wave
that you can really meet our star tonight

welcome to heaven
