Phenomenal Woman

Laura Mvula

Nobody ever told her she was beauty One day, she realized she was already free The color in her eyes was fire rising She found the light inside, a new horizon

Oh my my, oh my, she flies Oh my my, oh my, she flies Oh my my, oh my, she flies Oh my my, oh my, she flies

She battled trials and every kind of tribulation She reveled in adventure and imagination She never listened to no hater, liar Breaking boundaries and chasing fire

Oh my my, oh my, she flies Oh my my, oh my, she flies Oh my my, oh my, she flies Oh my my, oh my, she flies

It don't matter what people say Cause they don't know you, where you come from or where you're going You are phenomenal woman You are phenomenal, phenomenal!

Oh my my, oh my, she flies Oh my my, oh my, she flies (she flies, ah-ha!) Oh my my (oh my my), oh my, she flies (she flies) Oh my my (fly), oh my, she flies (she flies) Phenomenal woman