There and Back Again

My oh my what do we have here A world of trouble, a world of fear And no-where safe you can disappear to No long and winding road

John-Boy don't wanna work no more So he sits and stares at the bathroom floor Where the tiles collide with the lonely walls That hold his fear inside

Convinced now that all that was wrong is right His imagination has taken flight So he turns the key that unlocks his life And he takes himself within

He goes there and back again, right there - he goes there

Sheila G had known many men She decided one day she'd go and see 'em again She chased down nine from a likely ten There was one that got away

Well they all lived such bright and happy lives Said since she left everything had gone right She thought she would find they were broken men That only she could mend

Well from that day forward she changed her life She was a ghostly shadow with a face so white Said she'd never again try to tempt her fate 'Cos sometimes you're just too late

To go there and back again, she went there and back again She went there - right there

Well you and me well we'll always be Considering our place in infinity As we look back on scenes of eternity, and laugh

'Cos time does such cruel and wicked things Makes you change your conceptions and shed your skin 'Til you don't who you are or where you've been

But I know one thing and I know it well It's a sorry soul who's no tale to tell When evening falls and we reminisce Saying is that all there is? We go there and back again, right there - we go there

It's a case of been there, done that yeah... It's all experience along the way - where ya been - things ya seen. It all comes down - number one - I'd do it all again - I'd do it all again, I been there, done that yeah...
