

Good Enough

Less Than Jake

Who's to say
Say that it's wrong or it's right
When it helps me through the night

And who's to say
Say if I leave it behind
What I've been taught and thought inside

And who's to say
If I keep on crossing the line
That I won't sleep at all tonight

And all the gold won't keep its shine, it's always fading
Tarnishing the things you hold without explaining

We were born into
Believing that it's true
What's been good enough for them
Should be good enough for you
We were born into
Believing that it's true
What's been good enough for them
Should be good enough for you

Who's to say
Say that it's never a fact
But our faith is all we have

And who's to say
Say that it's wrong when I ask
If it helps me when I crash

And who's to say
Say that I'm on the right path
When I slip and fall so fast

And all the gold won't keep its shine, forever fading
Tarnishing the things you hold without explaining

We were born into
Believing that it's true
What's been good enough for them
Should be good enough for you
We were born into
Believing that it's true
What's been good enough for them
Should be good enough for youuuuuuu
Youuuuuuu

We were born into
Believing that it's true
What's been good enough for them
Should be good enough for you
We were born into
Believing that it's true
What's been good enough for them
Should be good enough for youuuuuuu

Good enough for youuuuuuuu

We were born into
Believing that it's true
What's been good enough for them
Should be good enough for you
