

You Can't Lose A Broken Heart

Louis Armstrong

Don't lose your head
Then lose your guy
You can't lose a broken heart

If you ever break up
Then try to make up
It's tough to make a brand new start

Take a walk, think it over
While strolling 'neath the moon
Don't say things in December
You'll regret in June

Weigh your remarks before you speak
Or you may be sorry soon
Don't be erratic, be diplomatic
To keep your hearts in tune

Cruel harsh words, often spoken
Will upset your appplecart

So don't lose your head
Then lose your guy
'Cause you can't lose a broken heart

Look out, don't lose your head
Then lose your gal
You can't lose a broken heart, babe

If you ever break up
Then try to make up
It's tough to make a brand new start

Take a walk and think it over
While strolling 'neath the moon
Don't say things in December
Baby, you'll regret it too soon

Weigh your remarks before you speak
Or you may be sorry soon
Baby, don't be erratic, be diplomatic
To keep your hearts in tune, baby

Cruel harsh words, often spoken
Will upset your appplecart, babe

So don't lose your head
Then lose your girl
'Cause you can't lose a broken heart
No, you can't, no, you can't Lose a broken heart
