The Frontlines

Machine Head

And I watched through bitter eyes As the blood filled in the cracks, black A burning effigy Told me I should kneel 'cause

I'm worshipping With terror, a disease Bum the sacred oil

They told us there'd never come a day They told us that we need not worry So we fucked around, thought this shit would change And turned our eyes away

I am the power siege And the rush you will feel, thrill Exploding out of me Through clenched teeth I will scream out

We're suffering With malice you deceive Puke sold as salvation

They told us there'd never come a day They told us that we need not worry So we fucked around, thought this shit would change And turned our eyes away

And I watched it slip away And you watched it slip away And we watched it slip away 'Cause no one took a stand