The Great Man's Secrets

Magazine

My lifetime's habits will remain this crush of hearts won't go away tonight, one way, once and for all good times aren't possible today

I took a little poison
I took it carefully
it built for me
a house on fire
this poison takes after me

This poison came too far to fail desire unwinds in the last hour within, the bed is overturned my host, the antidote is sour

I took a little poison ...

Now put me down upon the lawn right here - next to my favourite tree I'm being foolish - can't you tell! they all look just the same to me

I took a little poison ...
