This didn't used to be me, old boy
This isn't what I'd want pulling old night fighters in a restaurant There's smoke and flames behind me where the self-respect all went and I'm behind, behind
with the rent

I've been stitched up like a kipper, old son but I won't be again Hell hath no fury
Oh, I'm like a lot of men Now I'm stalking this old Doris with lascivious intent
and I'm behind, behind

Just a little duck and dive and a bit of wheel and deal She'll remind me I'm alive She'll remind me I still feel Just a little shelling out for a bit of you-know-what I know this is all about something that I never got

Well this crumpet's past it's sell-by-date but they all would qualify They're going to be lonely and be happy to comply She knows that I'm a chancer coming on like a gent but I'm behind, behind
with the rent
Yes, I'm behind, behind
with the rent
