If My Heart Could Sing

Marvin Gaye

I could write a million letters Quote from every poem I've ever read Sing each song that I've ever heard to you

But there's one thing I'd do better If I had a voice instead And the part of me that holds my love for you

If my heart could sing I'd sing a song that all the world could feel One that each word a thought would bring If my heart could sing, sing

I'd sing of love to tell my story Of how love brought me you And like a bell I'd toll and ring If my heart could sing

There are things I'd like to tell you Things I'd felt along the way But my lips can't speak the magic words That my heart alone can say

Oh, I'd prove to you I'll always love you Girl, I will, till the end of time I'll make you today eternal spring If my heart could sing

There are things that I'd like to tell you Like how I'll never, ever forget you If my heart, my heart could only sing, sing, sing
