

Don't Go Looking

Matt Dusk

Cry sad tears
Then dry your eyes and mend your heart
Life's too short to waste sweet time
Love is gone now you must start

Deep blue eyes
Smile at you across the room
You say that his were brown
And he is not the guy that you once knew

Don't go looking for
That heart you loved before
You can't replace him
With the same kind of face

Don't dream that sweet old dream
It's not the final scene
Be open to somebody else
Someone new

Change brings fear
As clouds will always brings the rain
But when it finally clears
Their sun will shine to make it bright again

Let love in
You might feel it deeper still
But if you hide away
I swear that you never will

Don't go looking for
That heart you loved before
You can't replace him
With the same kind of face

Don't dream that sweet old dream
It's not the final scene
Be open to somebody else
Someone new

Don't go looking for
That heart you loved before
Someone new
