

Heartache Weather

Matthew Ryan

'There's no train
There's no boat
There's no car
To get you far enough

There's no bus
There's no plane
There's no wreck
To make you beg enough

There's no drink
There's no sleep
There's no pill
To keep you still enough

It's heartache weather, please remember
Things are going to get worse
before they get better

There's no rope
There's no nail
There's no psalm
To make us strong enough

There's no con
There's no skin
There's no beauty
To help you through enough

It's heartache weather, please remember
Things are going to get worse
before they get better

There's no book
There's no code
There's no verse
To make it hurt enough

There's no kill
There's no spark
There's no script
To help you live enough

There's no cause
There's no drum
There's no breath
That gets you near enough
