Capsule

Menomena

Tiny muscle, wicked magic now the party starts
It's a long hall, but you can do it, you're a natural
No more trophies as the constellation fantasy
Like a nervous random stranger at a glory hall
At a glory hall

Now I'm evolving from a child to an aging child You're maturing from a memory to a legacy
Not complaining, living better in a time capsule
No more trophies, no more falsified identities

```
We never talk to, send me the telephone We never talk to, send me the telephone We never talk to, send me the telephone We never talk to, we never talk We never
```