

End of the Book

Michael W. Smith

On the day you were saved
Heaven and hell marked you down
Angels praise, devils raged
Life became a battleground

So when hell starts to move
And the enemy marches on you
Hang on, it's a fight
You've been marked by the army of night
You're a target

When your heart loved the dark
Hell could just leave you alone
With your life filled with light
You have become quite a foe

So when hell starts to move
And the enemy marches on you
Hang on, it's a fight
It's a battle of darkness and light

When things get bad and you can't stand to look
It's time to read to the end of the book
Don't put it down 'til you get to the end
When Jesus come and His Kingdom begins
'Til He comes, God the Son teaches us to use the sword
And every fight has a light, when you know we win the war

So when hell starts to move
And the enemy marches on you
Hang on, it's a fight
You're a part of the army of light

When things get bad and you can't stand to look
It's time to read to the end of the book
Don't put it down 'til you get to the end
When Jesus come and His Kingdom begins
'Til He comes, God the Son teaches us to use the sword
And every fight has a light, when you know we win the war