I'm blazing a trail that leads to vice So easily enticed By darker means When out of the wilderness of choice I hear that one still voice Call to me

Go west young man
Go west young man
When the evil go east
Go west young man
Go west young man
Find a heart that's golden

Why must I wander like a cloud Following the crowd Well I don't know But I'm asking for the will to fight To wear the crown of life And you say go

Go west young man
Go west young man
When the evil go east
Go west young man
Go west young man
Find a heart that's golden

Go west young man
Go west young man
When the evil go east
Go west young man
Go west young man
Find a heart that's golden

Go west young man Go west young man Go west young man Go west young man

The mind is weak the heart is frail When it goes beyond the pale So unwise, yeah

Go west young man
Go west young man
When the evil go east
Go west young man
Go west young man
Find a heart that's golden

Go west young man
Go west young man
When the evil go east
Go west young man
Go west young man
Find a heart that's golden

Go west young man
Go west young man
When the evil go east
Go west young man
Go west young man

Go west young man
