

Little Lucid Moments

Motorpsycho

its nothing but a ghost town now its like someone put it on standby but I know theres just got to be more than watching days and weeks as they go by

I hope someone will take it on show us what its really all about we need a guide to take us along someone whos been there, learned the lines who knows the song wholl never get it wrong someone whos known the secret all along someone to lead the way to burn the fog away someone to wake us up before we simply fade away entropy is mayor now inertias pointing all around

its nothing but a ghost town now muted colors muffled sound a hoof to the head ive been in every phase but never all in one i am as old as life but my time has just begun im here to steal your heart, add measures to your fear to make you so confused that everything becomes clear

I'm the whirlwind that you reap having sown the wind I'll wake you from your sleep I am chaos I combust to leave your pure enlightened mind fked in the dust (not sure)

though it may look alot like what you need to see itll never be just what you thought it would be there is no point of view that licenses your view thatll shake the world like your proud method should

I'm the whirlwind that you reap
having sown the wind I'll wake you from your sleep
I am chaos I combust
to leave your pure enlightened mind fked in the dust

the center of the universe just shifted all the way and as your cosmic wheel just rolls on through the memory so inscrutable and zenlike it appears translucent not clouded its simply crystal clear hallucifuge (hyperrealistically speaking...) never bigger or smaller closer to falling over never more proud never more terrified amazed by the wonder thats ripping my whole world asunder just hopelessly awestruck and mesmerised there is no denying my mind is unraveling hey man just watch me go!

falling out of the sky diving into the eye i must roar as im shattered just hanging on the center cant hold, forces twirl and unfold tearing loose from the axis to splinter off into quarks into atoms beyond what I could hope to fathom in a billion years this put me back together im as light as a feather all heavy headed and blown away the veil has been lifted the focus has shifted