Armies Walk

I was about to change But you stayed the same Had pinned against the wall That we are preordained If they gave you extra scenes You'd hit back to main I was about to change

Gonna disappear by train Cut my signal chain Find a stable girl And fill it up again You can't foresee intent When the writer writes all bent Armies walk inside me Armies walk physically

Every day I steal a car That's how hard it is To go from where you are

Disappear by train Cut my signal chain Find a stable world And fill it up again You can't foresee intent When the writer writes all bent Armies walk inside of me Armies walk physically We'd like you to leave Cause we've gotta breathe

Who's to say Why we're built so strange Disappointing ourselves Before we change? Grass is greener right over here Why do simple things Take so many years? Nada Surf
