Feels Like Home

Newton Faulkner

I know it's gonna take some time, For you to feel that it's alright, And not making people choose a side, But I don't mind, You trying to get some people on yours, I know that it takes some time, But I must try, I just want you to understand,

When things don't feel right, And you know deep inside, It breaks your heart, But you must get out,

And I know you're gonna be alright, And I hope you find your way and I hope your futures bright, But I am the way this feels inside, But all I wanna do is make it through to the other side, No I don't wanna know why, You just can't let this go, But I must try, I just want you to understand,

That it feels like home, And it knocks me out, Just to feel this way, And know I broke out,

And it feels like home, And it knocks me out, Just to feel this way, And know I broke out yeah,

And I owe it all, To this fall, Yes I owe it all, To this fall,

And I just want you to understand, That it feels like home, And it knocks me out, Just to feel this way, I know I broke out,

And it feels like home, And it knocks me out, Just to feel this way, And know I broke out, I broke out.
