

New Shoes

Nine Days

She's everything and more a girl could be
She could have been the last on earth to me
Everything I knew I left behind
Just for a chance at simple life
Laying on a hardwood floor
With a photograph from an antique store with you
Dust old records off from a milk crate shelf
Let the needle drop, oh

I believe in a brown eyed girl
That could change the world and me
Don't it make it seem like suddenly
Everything is so surreal
Like the color in her eyes
Takes me far away
She came suddenly

She'll never lets me fall too far behind
I won't walk ahead of her I won't
Two notes of a chord side by side
Two steps down a path between the vine
I feel the magic of a girl who who will bring the best of me out through
I think I'd rather be close to you, to you

I believe in a brown eyed girl
That could change the world and me
Don't it make it seem like suddenly
Everything is simple like a motorcycle ride
Faster than the rain, she came suddenly

I feel, you fell
All that stood still through each melody
I thank you for you

I feel the magic of a girl who, will bring the best of me out through
I think I'd rather be close to you, oh

I believe in a brown eyed girl
That could change the world and me
Don't it make it seem like suddenly
Everything is so surreal
Life the color in her eyes
Takes me far away
Where I want to stay
La da da da da
She came suddenly
La da da da da
She came suddenly
La da da da da
