Taste My Dream

No-Man

Sometimes I see you Stand by your window Staring at the sky your laughter stolen Your spirit unwoken Life in search of life Can you feel my heat? Can you hear my words Echo in your room? I hear your breathing Those nights of needing Hold onto something wild so sick of fighting So tired of writing You break down like a child can you taste my dream? Can you see my light Sparkle through the gloom? can you taste my dream? Can you see my light? Can you taste my dream? Can you see my light? can you see my light?
