

Take what you can

Nomy

She's getting close to what is true
She's getting close to what's in you
Everyday have been a strife
How to live inside your lies
Every time she's been at home
Every time you've been away
She's been sitting all alone
You never made her feel ok
Everything she ever knew was killed by you
Take what you can and go
Because everything you got is what you feel right now
Take what you can and go
Cause live is so much more and you will rise some how You're everything she ever had
When she was lonely feeling sad
You had the time to make it good
But you never understood
You were living on the side
You were living inside lies
A liar, denier