

The Way I See Things

Nonpoint

Do I have to remind you of how this all happened?
Trying to find your heart in your chest
But you wouldn't open.
Should I remind you of why this is over?
Trying to find a reason to stay because now I am sober.

But you make this impossible.
So damn difficult.
It was a part of our
Inevitability.

The way I see things
I could use a serious change of scenery.
The way I see things
I would be better off if I leave.

The way I see things
I could use a serious change of scenery.
The way I see things
I would be better off if I leave.

Shouldn't have to remind you
To keep yourself open
To all of the prizes
In front of your eyes, oh.

Should I have to remind you of what you'll be losing?
All of your pride won't
Keep you alive when your bones have been broken.

But you make this impossible
So damn difficult
It was a part of our
Inevitability.

The way I see things
I could use a serious change of scenery.
The way I see things
I would be better off if I leave.

The way I see things
I could use a serious change of scenery.
The way I see things
I would be better off if I leave.

NO! We can never make amends
So forget about friends.
NO! I can never make amends
Even here at the end.

It was a part of our inevitability.

The way I see things
I could use a serious change of scenery.
The way I see things
I would be better off if I leave.

The way I see things
I could use a serious change of scenery.
The way I see things
I would be better off if I leave.
