

The Time Is Now

Number One Gun

So you think you've done it all
And you try so hard
And you try to find so many things tonight
(Tonight you have to face it now)
And you thought that you might fall on your face, in time

It's not too late, you'll have your day
Don't be afraid 'cause you're not the same
You'll have your time to realize
And I'll be there right by your side, to see it all

And you can't believe it's happening to you
(You know you have to face it now)
And you try so hard
You see something that you can't describe
(You know you have to face it now)
You've got that certain look in your eyes this time

It's not too late, you'll have your day
Don't be afraid 'cause you're not the same
You'll have your time to realize
And I'll be there right by your side

You think that someone's calling your name
Well, isn't it time?
If you've thought that you might fall on your face
Then now is the time
Now is the time, now is the time, now is the time

It's not too late, you'll have your day
Don't be afraid 'cause you're not the same
You'll have your time to realize
And I'll be there right by your side
By your side, by your side