Something To Believe In

Parachute

You wake up every morning looking for your answer You're waiting for your sign While Jeremiah's on his way to tell the people But you watch him pass you by. You walk the streets at night still looking for the reason... But you don't want to try

You swear the world has got you backed into a corner But no one holds your hand to walk into a fight.

You swear the light is gonna find you But it can't find you if you're waiting all the time.

Chorus: You say 'keep my head from going down' Just for a little just for a little Watch my feet float off the ground Just for a little just for a little A little love if you can hear this sound Oh just give me something Something to believe in.

You spend your days alone still hoping for the truth oh But all you hear are lies But no one else is gonna tell you what to do now No one else is gonna to help you hold the line.

Sometimes it's hard to keep on living But you're the one who's got to know just when it's right.

Chorus: You say 'keep my head from going down' Just for a little just for a little Watch my feet float off the ground Just for a little just for a little A little love if you can hear this sound Oh just give me something Something to believe in.

Love come take me now Love come take me now Love come take me now Love come take me take me now Come take me take me now Come take me take me now.

You say 'keep my head from going down' Just for a little just for a little Watch my feet float off the ground Just for a little just for a little A little love if you can hear this sound Oh just give me something Something to believe in.
