Sleeping With The Lights On

Pat Green

Well, I can't believe how much I think about you
Don't know why?
How'd I ever even get along without you
Through the long night?

Days are so long, you're not around
But I only know one thing

Tired of sleeping with the lights on
And writing all these sad songs, I know where I belong
It's tangled up in your arms, so tell me that you're all right
You're missing me tonight, you can't wait till I come home

And I wonder if you're starin' out the window
Watchin' cars go by
And I wonder if it ever really gets to you
With no one by your side

Walkin' through this lonely space
I need you so much every day
This is the life I know

Tired of sleeping with the lights on
And writing all these sad songs, I know where I belong
It's tangled up in your arms, so tell me that you're all right
You're missing me tonight, you can't wait till I come home

It's getting closer every day
Just thinking about it makes me shake
But I know I need you now

Tired of sleeping with the lights on
And writing all these sad songs, I know where I belong
It's tangled up in your arms, so tell me that you're all right
Missing me tonight, you can't wait till I come home

Tell me that you're all right
Missing me tonight, you can't wait till I come home
