

Images Of Sigrid

Poni Hoax

Well we went on swimming, love
And then we when we went to dance
For the breeze was surely gentle
But we didn't leave it any chance
We can never be too happy
So you wrote it as a law
We should not feel so lonely, love
The sickness has to go

And if you dine with someone else
I will never take you down
For the night is standing bare
Waiting there to claim our crown
Will you lay beside me now
And help me with the rain
I'll blot it off the circle, love
And well never come back again

There are no clouds
Only blue skies
There are no clouds, today
There are no clouds
Only blue skies
There are never any clouds anyway

There are none who say so well
The things we should not know
There are none who say so well
This land we cannot sow
Will you lay beside me now
And cast your dreams down in the well
They form a shape up in the sky
The wind will lead them to our cells

There are no clouds
Only blue skies
There are no clouds, today
There are no clouds
Only blue skies
There are never any clouds anyway

There are no clouds
(Sigrid says she does not know)
Only blue skies
(why these things just matter so)
There are no clouds, today
(Sigrid says she does not know)
There are no clouds
(Sigrid says she does not know)
Only blue skies
(why these things just matter so)
There are never any clouds anyway
(Sigrid says she does not know)
