Priestess

Keep your voices quiet Ears are all around If we hide each other No one will be found

I can hear them talking Lie against the ground It's almost over Just don't make a sound

Waiting for the morning Waiting for the sun to rise

Waiting for the morning Waiting for the sun to rise

High up in the tower Chained and bolted down Looking through the window Her eyes are on me now

I can't escape it
I can't make a sound

Waiting for the morning Waiting for the sun to rise

Waiting for the morning Waiting for the sun to rise

Fly the vulture hunter
Scourge upon the town
On wings of thunder
Bolting through the clouds
Be drawn together
Lightning strikes the ground

Waiting for the morning Waiting for the sun to rise

Waiting for the morning Waiting for the sun to rise

Morning

Waiting for the sun to rise

Waiting for the morning Waiting for the sun to rise