

I Will Get Over You

Priscilla Ahn

I painted my nails for my birthday
I turned to gray, my color had drained
Cause I finally saw how you hurt me
I was blinded by love, rewarded with pain

And I will get over you
It hurts right now
But I know it's true

I thought we had something golden
I thought that we'd outlive them all
I hoped that we would grow old
But I'm just another brick in your wall

But I will get over you
It hurts right now
But I know it's true

I may break down
I imagine your arms
Around me in my mind
So wrong, so right

And I will get over you
It hurts right now
But I know it's true

I will get over you
It hurts right now
But I know it's true

But I will get over you
It hurts right now
But I know it's true