

Why Should I Believe In You

Queensberry

Try as I might
I'm losing this fight
Each time you take my hand
Confusion torments my mind

I wish I could go back and just pretend
And wishing my heart would finally mend
But I can't fake what I feel
The pain You cause me is real
So tell me

Why should I believe in You
When you go, missing more than I can say
Why should I believe in You
Cause the love in my heart still remains

Could this be a chance I gotta take or give it my all or let it fade away
Why should I believe in you

Trying to find some space in my mind
Spending days, win nothing but time
I just can't decide
Which way to go from here

When I'm decided by my fears
I missing you so much, can't deny
Been sitting and asking myself why...

Why should I believe in You
When you go, missing more than I can say
Why should I believe in You
Cause the love in my heart still remains

Could this be a chance I gotta take
or give it my all
or let it fade away
Why should I believe in you

Did she fall from the same lies
Did you think I never realise
All the things that you're trying to hide
It's to late for compromise...

Why should I believe in You
When you go, missing more than I can say
Why should I believe in You
Cause the love in my heart still remains

Could this be a chance I gotta take
or give it my all
or let it fade away (just fade away)
Why should I believe in you

Why should I believe in You
When you go, missing more than I can say

Why should I believe in You
Cause the love in my heart still remains

Could this be a chance I gotta take
or give it my all
or let it fade away (just fade away)
Why should I believe in you
