Starting Over Again

Reba McEntire

Mama moved out Daddy sold the house They split up the money And went on their own way

And all the kings horses And all the kings men couldn't put mama and daddy back together again

Starting over again Where should they begin 'Cause they never been out on their own Starting over again Where do you begin When your dreams are all shattered and the kids are all grown And the whole world cries

He got an apartment She moved in with her sisters He's schemin' big deals with one of his friends While she sits at home sortin' out pieces Of left over memories from thirty odd years

Starting over again Where do you begin When you've never been out on your own Starting over again Never any end

What will the neighbors say They're talking talk it's small town news They're fifty years old wrecking up a happy home And this far down the road You find yourself alone Two fools

Starting over again Where do you begin When you've never been out on your own Starting over again Never any end When your dreams are all shattered and the kids are all grown
