

Down to Earth

Reece Mastin

The sky has turned from blue to grey
The stars above begin to fade away
We walked from miles and miles and miles
We've come so far to let it go to waste
And I won't let you go

You've been blurring all the lines,
Caught in circles
I've been wearing all your fines
Spread your wings and go now fly away
And when you come around
I'll be there to catch you
When you fall back down to earth
Fall back down to earth

The stands of time are running low
I wonder if you're ever coming home
We come together just to fall apart
You shoot an arrow through my heart
I keep believing things can change
And you and I could be the same
I won't let you go

You've been blurring all the lines
Caught in circles
I've been wearing all your fines
Spread your wings and go now fly away
And when you come around
I'll be here to catch you
When you fall back down to earth
Fall back down to earth

You've been blurring all the lines
Caught in circles
I've been wearing all your fines
Spread your wings and go now fly away
And when you come around
I'll be here to catch you
When you fall back down to

You've been blurring all the lines
Caught in circles
I've been wearing all your fines
Spread you wings and go now fly away
And when you come around
I'll be here to catch you
When you fall back down to earth
Fall back down to earth
