

So it's such a great surprise
To wake up to your disguise
You pretend to be just like us
But you're my peace of mind
You can take the mood I'm in
And turn it into something that's all right
Oh it's alright

Things can't get much better
You might have to stay
To make sure I never forget about today
You might have to stay
You might have to stay

I don't really want to know
How this story will unfolded
I can only hope you'll wait until it's told
I go out and find my way
You can do the same but I need ooh you
I can be alone but only when I'm holding you

Things can't get much better
You might have to stay
To make sure I never forget about today
You might have to stay
You might have to stay
We're all ready there
The only ones here

Things can't get much better
You might have to stay
To make sure I never forget about today

Things can't get much better
You might have to stay
To make sure I never forget about today
You might have to stay
You might have to stay
You might have to stay
You might have to stay
