Raining

Simon Carly

Raining Raining for days on end Staying inside again Making up lists Of things to do When the rain ends The Children are restless They played all their games Again and again and again If we knew anyone We could call up a friend

But it's raining Raining, raining, raining

The sheets are damp And the towels won't dry Why bother to take all the Clothes in from the line Cause tomorrow may be

Raining On a summer vacation Here by the ocean Look in the attic To see if you might Find an old toy Maybe a magazine Maybe a mystery Something to look at Or something to read

Cause it's raining Raining, raining, raining

The salt won't shake And the cards won't play Damned if we go But damned if we stay Cause tomorrow May be raining

Raining for days on end Staying inside again Making up lists Of things to do When the rain ends Oh, it's raining Raining, raining, raining
