You can call somebody captain Under pressure you can flip You can be a rock commando But you can't pilot the ship

Groove a little baby, groove a little now Groove a little baby, you might know what you want

But I'll show you how

You can trip the light fantastic
Become a space grotesque
You can fossilize your thought dreams
Behind a rusty desk

You might know what you want But I'll show you how

You can read the works of Shakespeare In the Academy of Life You can punk the skunks of freedom With you jeweled Etruscan knife
