

So Divine...

Tesla

You are the sun that lights the day
You are the star that never fades
Making the flowers bloom
Taken away too soon
Your spirit's living on today

There's no words to explain
We're left alone with the pain
No matter what, we will survive
Your memory's alive

Soaring where the angels fly
Shining through the darkest sky
Severing the ties that bind
So divine, you left this world behind

You turned the water into wine
Pulling the souls right from the vine
Time is written by your hands
Mortals can't understand
The secret lies between the lines

Wilted down, scared to bone
Now your name is etched in stone
Centuries we hear the cries
The legend never dies

Soaring where the angels fly
Shooting clouds from midnight sky
Severing the ties that bind
So divine, you left this world behind

Soaring where the angels fly
Shining through the darkest sky
Severing the ties that bind
So divine, you left this world behind