The All-american Rejects

Went to bed with a smile. Bragged to my friends for a little while. And I wished for another date, to sit with you dazin'. I was in this state of tossing and turning not knowing what to do. Just sitting and waiting for a call from you. I know that it's real and it's no surprise. To see that its true I look into your eyes. Yes, she changed me. And now I'm not the same. And I know just how I have a world when she says my name.

Now I see you every day. I go out of my way just to see your face and school with you isn't the same. Sleepless nights and our jokes are lame. I am hoping and dreaming of another night like this. Restless, and yearning for your sweet kiss. I know that it's real. It's no surprise. To see that it's true I look into your eyes.

Oh Yes, she change me, Now I'm not the same. I know now just how I have a world when she says my name. She changed me and now im not the same. And I know now just how I have a world when she says my name.

Tossing and turning not knowing what to do. Just sitting and waiting for a call from you. I know that its real and its no surprise. To see that its true I look into your eyes. Yes, she changed me. A And now I'm not the same. And I know just how I have a world when she says my name. Tossing and turning not knowing what to do. Just sitting and waiting for a call from you. I know that its real and its no surprise. To see that its true I look into your eyes. Oh Yes, she changed me. And, now I'm not the same. And I know just how I have a world when she says my name.
