Up Against The Wall

The Be Good Tanyas

Up against the wall You don't stand so tall Better run run run put your armor on again

She is 12 years old Nothing she don't know She says you're 32 but you want to be 16

I know that you did not receive
What it was that you needed when you were Growing
But tell me what's the worth
You're repeating history verse by verse

What do you prove No matter what you say I think you'll lose You'll lose You'll lose her

Up against the wall You don't stand so tall Better run run run put your armor on again

Isn't it time we recognized that we all live Such broken lives sometimes And it's sad but true that you still carry so Much with you
