Burned Out And Broken In

The Beautiful Mistake

i feel, like the one who can't break up am i unwelcome, should i leave with all my doubt i know, these feelings always pass but tonight i'm all alone, should i just ask i can't sleep with these objects closing in i'm short of breath* i'm tired, i'm tired of running even my dreams, they seem to take effect i'm losing it i'm losing it you say, you'll lighten up my load my back is broken, maybe i should just stay home you say, you'll hold me in these times so wrap your arms around me, and ease my troubled mind i can't sleep with these objects closing in i'm short of breathe* i'm tired, i'm tired of running even my dreams, they seem to take effect i'm losing it i'm losing it time steals my heart, feeling naked once again i can't move i'm tired tired of running (tired of running) tired of running'