

Angel Street

The Black Sorrows

I've been walkin' these streets alone ain't no comfort for a heart of stone you see a shadow fallin' in the rain you find hope you better look again

We're hungry for the bitter fire driven by a wild desire stagger through the dust and haze broken in these empty days

Baby, don't make a murmur baby now don't you speak they need a light to shine on through down on Angel Street

Out in the land of mercy over by the waterline
but it ain't no friend of mine

This storm will never break tonight so you'd better take some care tonight there's a hammer beatin' hard inside you can run but you can never hide
