My Tiger My Heart

The Boy Least Likely To

As sweet as a plum and lovely as dawn Rolling its tongue over its gums Like tiger and me as happy as could be Sat out on the porch

As the whole of the sky Clouds quietly over And it starts to cry Softly on my shoulder

We don't want to grow up

But we have to grow up

As sad as I am, I do understand

I do understand, it just makes me sad

My tiger my heart We're growing apart We're trying to be friends

But it's hard sometimes
To be friends with something that eats butterflies
And pencil sharpeners
And I think it would be happier being free

My tiger my friend
My little godsend
I know someday, we'll be happy again
