

It's Wasting Me Away

The Electric Soft Parade

There's a space where you were
There's a love that's not there
And I tried to see it your way
But I couldn't see at all

There's a line across the window
Like the lines across your face
There's a space where you were
(And you're back again)
There's a love that's not there

I tried so hard to see it your way
But I couldn't see at all
There's a line across the window
Like the lines across your face

There's a line across the window
Like the lines across your face
There's a never ending sorrow
And it's wasting me away
