

Too Clever By Half

The Long Blondes

I know you're only doing what comes naturally
I know you're only doing what comes naturally

Oh you
You and her were pretty cruel
You both planned to leave your lovers and run off with each other
And leave us to look like fools

Oh you
You said "I know I've been unkind"
And you swore blind it was the last time you'd ever leave a girl behind
But how did she know you were telling the truth?

Oh you thought you were clever
You thought you were smart
But you were just too clever by half
But you were just too clever by half
While you were making plans
I was going with her man
Then we left you to be clever
To be clever together

Oh you
You thought that you were pretty smart
But when you and her were out I would go round to his house
And I don't have to tell you what we did next
No I don't have to tell you what we did next
No I don't have to tell you what we did next
No I don't have to tell you what we did next
But you're not so clever now

Oh you thought you were clever
You thought you were smart
But you were just too clever by half
But you were just too clever by half
While you were making plans
I was going with her man
Then we left you to be clever
To be clever together

I know you're only doing what comes naturally
I know you're only doing what comes naturally
I know you're only doing what comes naturally
I know you're only doing what comes naturally
