The Mission

Your psycho babble is so alien to me
And I don't understand your psychotherapy
I don't want your conversation, I don't need no explanation
When you spout your blah, blah and your cod philosophy

And the things you say give it all away And the things you do all betray that you You're a headshrinker

My signed Bukowski, you sold behind my back
And undermining is your chosen mode of attack
I don't want your measured excuse, I don't need cerebral abuse
You know I know the truth and the truth is you're a quack

And the things you preach are all in breach Red flags are raised, sets me ablaze And the things you say give it all away And the things you do all betray that you You're a headshrinker

And the things you preach are all in breach Red flags are raised, sets me ablaze And the things you say give it all away And the things you do all betray that you You're a headshrinker, headshrinker Headshrinker, you're a headshrinker
