

Barely Breathing

The Pineapple Thief

Alone and still,
And barely breathing,
I lie awake and watch you dreaming.
I hold you close as if to reason,
With all the years, I wish I knew...

I never said enough to make it up to you
I barely gave enough to you to make it through.
I never said enough to you my love.

I lie awake
And all I see is,
The way we lay,
On golden beaches.
The deepest eyes,
They couldn't see that,
The world would fade.
I know, I couldn't,

Even say enough to make it up to you.
I barely gave enough for you to make it through.
I never gave enough to you my love.
I never said enough to you my love.

I lie awake and watch you dreaming,
Alone and still,
And barely breathing.