You've been hiding now for so long Never understanding why Running far away from the truth And all along chasing after lies

I have loved you from the beginning Long before you knew my name Even though you've broken my heart I'll love you just the same I'll love you anyway

Never mind your worries
Never mind your fears
They can only take you far from me
When you feel there's nowhere
Left for you to turn
Well, I got all you want
And everything you need
Come on back to me

Do you believe in second chances
Or in a love that never fades
Put your faith in what you can't see
Just put your hand in mine
And I'll show you the way