Stupid shows and blind ambition Blowing up the television Is your life a never ending video? We're out of shoes and frappachinos Gucci Bags and Valentinos One hit wonders blaring from the stereo Why are you fascinated? I'll never be outdated You think I'm less than perfect But don't you know I'm more than enough? You think you need the latest drama queen making a scene An air-brushed model on the silver screen Why can't you see? I'm no average angel I'm no average angel I'm not in designer jeans I don't need plastic surgery And I don't really care who's in my own top 8 Won't trade my reality for anything that's on t.v. No, not for all the bling that's on the VMA's I'm not an imitation Knock off, duplication You think I'm less than perfect But don't you know I'm more than enough? You think you need the latest drama queen making a scene An air-brushed model on the silver screen Why can't you see? I'm no average angel I'm no average angel I'm no average angel I can't wait forever Make it now or never It's my precious time you're wasting, Chasing something that's not real You think you need the latest drama queen making a scene An air-brushed model on the silver screen You think you need the latest drama queen making a scene An air-brushed model in a magazine Why can't you see I'm no average angel I'm no average angel I'm no average angel (why can't you see)

I'm no average angel
I'm no average angel