Crying Ain't Dying

Tracy Lawrence

First he said he loved you he promised he'd be true
Then he was unfaithful word got back to you
Tonight when he came calling you wouldn't let him in
Now your tears are falling and you swear they'll never end
But crying ain't dying losing ain't forever
It's kind of like the weather it changes everyday
You learned yourself a lesson bout loving and lying
But you will live to love again cause crying ain't dying

Even though he hurt you he's still the one you want You're gonna feel that way till the day you don't You can pull the shades down grieve what's gone before But you can't keep tomorrow from walking through that door But crying ain't dying...

You learned yourself a lesson bout loving and lying But you will never love again crying ain't dying You will never love again cause crying ain't dying
